

Cards Roller Coaster Season Continues

Written by Alec Peebles

Friday, 18 December 2009 14:39

---

HOPKINS COUNTY, KY - On Wednesday the Louisville Cardinals up and down season continued as they blew out the Oral Roberts Golden Eagles 94-57.

Last year during the regular season the Louisville Cardinals under Coach Rick Pitino were one of the best teams in the country. This year they have gotten off to a rocky start, and there is a lot of speculation as to why that could be. Some people feel that the controversy surrounding the program's Coach Pitino heading into this season has had some affect on the team. It recently came out that Pitino had an affair. People began speculating that maybe this would hurt recruiting at the University of Louisville. Maybe it was not the recruiting issue as much as it was a huge distraction for the players, coaches, and everyone else involved. Also, let's not forget that Louisville lost plenty of talent from that team a year ago. Earl Clark and Terrence Williams both went to the NBA after last season. It is virtually impossible to replace two players of that caliber. Despite all of the problems and questions surrounding the basketball program at the University of Louisville they still were able to run away with the game on Wednesday night vs. Oral Roberts. The Golden Eagle players were no doubt distracted in their own right after hearing of the death of Evangelist Oral Roberts on Tuesday.

Donnie Ezell – iSurf News